

Outer Banks Fine Custom Homes

The only contractor...

...that tars plywood seams as a precaution against the hurricane winds that tear off shingles and concrete around pilings to prevent the house from settling by distributing the weight more evenly. RCI is the only contractor to use glass handrails, giving you an unobstructed view. RCI has proven these methods to work through years of use, leading to one satisfied customer after another. Also, RCI does not use subcontractors, which makes it easier to control and get the quality you deserve.
